CAMPUS EVENTS is a weekly bulletin for all summer students - - - - - JULY 10, 1962

THE FIRST PRESIDENT'S LECTURE. Just what are the roadblocks to peace? Three different points of view will be presented at the three President's Lectures this summer. The first, this Wednesday, is a Russian point of view, presented by one of the best-known experts on world affairs, Dr. Philip E. Mosely. His opinion of who or what are the obstacles to peace should be very stimulating! B.A. and "Type A" lectures are cancelled Wednesday from 11:30 till 1:30 so that all summer students can attend at 12:00. However, you are asked not to eat in Convocation Hall.

"HOP, VIEW, AND SPLASH" THIS WEDNESDAY. What is a "Hop, View, and Splash"? Well, the title describes a special kind of informal evening. Throughout it, you have a choice of dancing at the "hop" in the Music Room, viewing excellent short films across the hall, and joining the "splash party" in the pool. You can also play bridge or other card games in yet another room. The evening begins at 9:00 this Wednesday and the next few Wednesdays in Hart House. Everyone will be welcome. The swimming for both men and women ends at 10:30; the rest ends at midnight. Prof. Lewis will demonstrate some of the latest dance steps for a few minutes during the "hop".

CARL SANDBURG & ROBERT FROST. These two stimulating men will visit the campus this week in two films. These films should be especially interesting for teachers and summer students. Each writer tells in an informal conversation of his personal experiences. Robert Frost also reads two of his poems; Sandburg also strums his guitar and sings folk songs. This one-hour program will be shown this Thursday in the East Common Room of Hart House (bring your lunch if you wish), this Friday at O.C.E. (corner Bloor and Spadina) (Room 234), and next Monday at O.C.E. Any experienced projectionists willing to help should leave name and phone number at WA.3-6611, local 332. TIMES: 1:00 on Thursday, 12:00 Friday and Monday.

NOON-HOUR CONVERSATION. On Monday, Prof. Marcus Long will interview Angus Wilson, the well-known writer. You may eat your lunch as you sit in the Hart House quadrangle to enjoy the wide-ranging "Conversation".

ENGINEERING TOUR. Lists are posted in the Information Centre and in O.C.E. front hall for you to sign this week if interested in next Tuesday's tour at 2:45. It will cover Mechanical and Civil Engineering on the campus - of interest to both women and men. You will see steel wire "rope" stretched with 150-ton tension until it snaps! Also to be seen is a jet of gas at 20,000 degrees that destroys ordinary materials instantly with a "puff".

MACBETH. One week from today the Tely tour to Stratford will attend Macbeth. Your tickets will be ordered for you if you sign the list in the Information Centre or the O.C.E. basement. These all-expense tours cost 9.75 or 11.25.

INFORMATION. The Information Centre in Hart House is the "hub" of campus activities. Visit it daily to check the bulletin boards and the students' notice-board (for rides, lost and found, . . .), to read the daily papers, and to add your contribution to the suggestion box. Have you yet picked up the invaluable Students' Handbook, plus sightseeing brochures and transportation timetables? Mrs. Deane is glad to answer your questions and help make your summer more interesting.

RANDOM JOTTINGS. Have you yet enjoyed eating in the Great Hall, a magnificent dining hall with high ceiling, great wooden beams, many university crests, and even chandeliers (but moderate cafeteria prices) --- Keys for the women's lockers in U.C. are still available at the Information Centre --- The secondhand Book Exchange closes on Friday for a while, and library tours may also end this week.
